

Photo Restoration

Do you have an old photograph of a loved one or relative? Many old photographs are prone to silvering or mildew that "eat away" at the image. Also the image may be cracked or damaged by passing time. Those images can be copied and restored. Some photographs require more work than others and there are various levels of restoration available. All restoration is done on a copy, so that there is absolutely no damage to your original print. If you are interested call for a consultation appointment.
